Riverside Reads — Final Outcomes Report (DRAFT)

2027 Community Literacy Program · Grant No. HF-2027-014 · Prepared for Harbor Foundation

Report date: September 12, 2027 · Draft: not for submission

1. Summary

Between April and August 2027, Riverside Reads delivered the Riverside Reads program funded under Grant HF-2027-014: four spring reading workshops attended by 214 children and family members, followed by an eight-week summer tutoring cohort of 87 enrolled students in grades 2 through 5. Every enrolled student completed a pre-program and a post-program reading assessment (Table 2). The mean score rose from 47.5 to 58.7 on the 100-point assessment, and 87 of 87 students improved.

2. Program delivery

The spring workshop series ran on four Saturdays at the Pollard branch of the Lowell Public Library and the Riverside Community Center. Attendance was recorded on signed sign-in sheets, submitted with the Tranche 1 evidence in June. The summer cohort met twice a week from June 21 to August 13, 2027, in groups of five to seven students with one trained tutor each.

3. Reading outcomes

Students were assessed with the Riverside Reading Inventory, a 100-point measure of decoding, fluency and comprehension, in the first and last week of the summer cohort. Table 2 lists both scores for all 87 enrolled students. Student identifiers are anonymized; the key is held by the Grantee and available to the reviewer on request. Post-program scores for section B are still being entered: TODO.

4. Community engagement and impact

Families attended each workshop with their children; 61 parents and guardians took part in the family reading sessions, and 38 households borrowed books through the program's lending shelf at the community center. Two parent volunteers trained as reading buddies and continue with the fall cohort. The program's impact on the Riverside neighborhood: 240 books now in participants' homes, a weekly family reading hour the community center has kept on its schedule, and the reading gains in Table 2.

5. Budget

Workshop spending for Tranche 1 totaled USD 9800.50 against the USD 10,000.00 tranche budget, as reported in the spring workshop budget report. Tranche 2 costs (tutor stipends, assessment kits and books for the summer cohort) are itemized in the attached final budget.

6. Attestation

I attest that the information in this report is accurate and complete to the best of my knowledge.
